

xrr

an era in his intellectual life. If T add *i-n + ^*<sub>0</sub>«* * .1

I could impart, but I am always Sustelby when I enter society, and little inclined to tlrk »ff ff ff never get anything in return, I do not ;
 think fh* t?

derstand, jealous of him Jomp«* ^frt 5S' v ls> -i un" nevertheless not easily find a rival f * V ou?? goUt^ will I met him at Genera? Phipp l^L ySTLfth^- mankind into those who waiw^ + / and he divided dinner and those 47 1^ to J*^ ap?6tite for their

A<sup>1</sup> Y ^ ^ Sto ^ ^
 ? ^

to that of others. When I ^p! f <a^omS my o indeed I was nervous and hal<sub>se</sub>5f on fii^ ^ con^itedJ intend in future to act entire!^ I<sup>TM</sup> TM enCe o^ b^ hts-Jave an unerring instinct T 1 7 ^ ^ 7 own impulse. I few men can df<sub>ce</sub>?ve ^"" ^ ^ J: ea/ -characters at a glance j It is a revolutionary miud I^T^i<sup>IS</sup> + Y^*ti^tai mind!

of our English society ie oo7 M> Tlle fixed character

h

ideal

amb ition

3tic

